MURRAY MUST TELL ABOUT THE CENSUS FRAUD

He Receives Another Subpæna Requiring Him to Produce All His Official Documents Before the Legislative Committee.

MR. MOTT HAS A LITTLE ROW.

President Wilson, of the Board of Health, Compares His Statistics, as Published in the Berald, with Porter's False Count.

Before the Legislative Committee on Enumeration and Reapportionment meets again in Part 2, of the Superior Court, they will have determined to their own satisfaction whether they can punish ex-Supervisor Charles H. Murray for contempt. The Assemblymen's eagerness to learn just how the recent census fraud was perpetrated, so that when the State census is taken they can avoid a repetition, and Mr. Porter's determination that they shall not learn the facts have led into an interesting

At any rate, as the matter rests at present, Mr. Porter has, by muzzling Mr. Murray, got a little the better of the committee, for, next to the chief of the incompetent Census Bureau and the republican parly managers, Mr. Murray knows most about the scheme which was put into such successful opera-

When the committee met yesterday morning Mr. Murray was again put upon the stand. He appeared somewhat more nervous than he did on last Saturday, and this was due, it was said, to a slight misunderstanding between Assistant District Attorney Mott and himself as to what sort of questions Mr. Murray should answer as a witness. Mr. Mott believed he should refuse to disclose anything. MR. MOTT EXCITED.

Mr. Murray declared that he should answer only questions which might be based upon the legislative resolution which brought the committee into being, and only such as would assist the committee in determining upon a plan of State enumeration. So when the questions of Mr. Bartlett, counsel for the committee, began it was evident that Mr. Mott was not in good humor. The inquiries were based upon Mr. Murray's former testimony, and were to a large extent of the nature of a cross-examination.

Mr. Bartlett, with the intention of discovering why the scheme of the federal enumeration should be based upon the clumsy plan of subdivision into 899 districts last June, inquired whether the witness would oblige the committee by marking out a plan which would show groupings of his enumeration districts into Assembly districts.

Mr. Murray was about to reply when Mr. Mott, who already had been decidedly uneasy, sprang to his feet and exclaimed:—
"I object! I object emphatically if that question is intended as an interrogation concerning Mr. Murray's official acts as a supervisor of the census!"
Chairman Holcomb flushed with anger and brought the gavel down with an emphasis which startled the policeman out in the hall.
Pointing the gavel at the interrupter of the session he remarked:—

sion he remarked:—

THE HERALD FIGURES.

"Mr. Mott will sit down and do so at once! We do not intend to begin the new week with the interruptions which characterized the one just gone. We have accorded the courtesy of permitting Mr. Mott to appear here as counsel for this witness, but we shall most certainly withdraw that privilege and request Mr. Mott to withdraw if he persists in this sort of thing!"

Mr. Murray flushed and then replied to Mr. Eartlett's question by the somewhat pleading declaration:—

tion:--Why, Mr. Chairman, I cannot do what you want.

"Why, Mr. Chairman, I cannot do what you want.
I can't get at it."

Mr. Bartiett persisted, however, and finally learned that the tables which had been prepared by the Supervisor of the City Record, Mr. Kenny, were just about what the committee wanted.

The tables show what the readers of the Herallo have so long been aware of, that the subdivision of the city into census enumeration districts by the rederal authorities was an effectual estoppal of any comparison in detail between the federal and the poice enumeration.

When this fact had been made clear Mr. Mott left the room.

When this fact had been made clear Mr. Mott left the room.

This brought the inquiry concerning Mr. Murray's part in the June census to a temporary close. He was served with a subpona directing him to reappear before the committee next Friday in Part 2 of the Superior Court, with all the books and documents which in any way related to the census.

Called Brown for Facts.

He took the subpona, placed it in his pocket and departed saying not a word. Meanwhile there will be a correspondence between Mr. Murray and Porter, and perhaps Colonel Ethan Allen will write another letter to Porter again begging him not to make such a foot of himself.

Upon Mr. Murray's retirement from the stand Mr. Charles G. Wilson, President of the Board of Health, took his place, and in reply to Mr. Bartlett's questions told of the organization of his department and of its objects, and then produced statistics showing the Board of Health's estimate of the city's population last June and the reasons for the estimate, all of which were long ago published in these columns.

The committee adjourned early in the afternoon out of respect to General Shorman, bringing two successive hearings to abrupt and socause of the death of two great warrfors, the Saturday session being broken because of Admiral Porter's death. A secret session of the committee will be held in Albany to-day, when it will be decided whether proceedings for contempt may rest against Mr. Murray.

SINGLEY AND THE PSALM SINGERS.

METROPOLITAN EXPERIENCES OF AN EX-MISSIS-SIPPI RIVER STEAMBOAT CAPTAIN. Mr. Samuel Singley, who for forty-five years was a Mississippi River steamboat captain, caused a good deal of merriment as a witness on his own behalf yesterday before Judge Patterson in the Supreme Court, Special Term.

Mr. Singley is the defendant in a suit brought by the Magnolia Anti-Friction Metal Company for an injunction to restrain him from giving to other parties the secret of the manufacture of anti-friction metal. It is claimed that he was under contract to give his services to the company, for which he was to receive $15 a week salary and ten per cent of the profits, with the understanding that he should not impart to any one else his important discovery in respect to anti-friction metal.

In making out its case the company relied largely on an agreement between itself and the defendant, and for the alleged violation of which the present injunction suit is brought.

"Do you acknowledge this agreement?" Mr. Singley was asked in his cross-examination.

"That certainly is my signature." replied the excaptain, "but I had been taken advantage of when I had been drinking."

"Didn't you get $200 a good many times in my life."

"What did you go to Asbury Fark for?" pursued the counsel. parties the secret of the manufacture of the counsel.

'To get rid of the whiskey I had drunk and to get wall,' was the prompt reply.

'Did you not sign the agreement on Sunday?' he was asked.

"Insver do any business on Sunday."
"Have you not been in the habit of going to Coney Island on Sunday?"
"I have and I go there when I please, and pay my way, too. I found that I had been robbed by a lot of psalm singers when drunk and I made up my mind I would never drink any more."
The Captain's cross-examination was not concluded when the Court adjourned and will be resumed this morning.

UNCLE SAM BEATEN IN A SUIT.

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday Judge Lacombe decided against the government in a suit brought to recover $12,495.52 from the Union Pacific Rathway Company and the Western Union provision was made as to whether messages should be sent over the railroad or the Western Union wires, and the telegraph company transmitted the messages and refused any rebate.

Telegraph Company as a rebate on messages.

END OF A CHILIAN SCHEME.

HOW FOREIGN CAPITAL WAS ABSORBED IN A GREAT RAILBOAD ENTERPRISE.

Receiver Lewis Wallace, Jr., yesterday discon tinued the action of Contractors Henry C. Comegys, Jared E. Lewis and George F. Wyman against General George S. Field, Charles McDonald, Julio Bern stein, of Chili, and other members of the North and South American Construction Company. The discontinuance was ordered by Justice Andrews. of the Supreme Court, on Saturday and was exccuted before Justice Ingraham yesterday.

This puts an end to one of the grandest schemes ever devised by North Americans to build a rail road in South America. Its history is especially interesting because it shows how easily President Balmaceda, of Chili, gobbles up an immense railroad enterprise. It also shows how dangerous it is for foreigners to play at railroad building in Henry C. Comegys and Jared Lewis made a contract with the Chilian government on October 17, 1888, to build and equip with rolling stock, stations, depots, telegraph lines, &c., 680 miles of railroad. When they handed over the line to the govtions, depots, telegraph lines, &c., 680 miles of railroad. When they handed over the line to the government they were to receive $15,000,000 in alump sum. Comegys and Lewis induced General Field and other members of the Union Bridge Company, of Buffalo, N. Y., to go into the scheme. With their help was organized the North and South American Construction Company, which gave the Chillian government a bond for $1,000,000 in gold that the work should be faithfully done. Neither Comegys nor Lewis nor their partner Wyman was a party to this bond. The construction company was capitalized at $2,000,000 in 20,000 shares. Comegys and Lewis held 7,000 shares, General Field and his friends $,000 and the remaining $5,000 were held in the construction company's own treasury.

MATTERS IN A BAD WAY.

Mr. Lewis went to Chili and took charge of the railroad building. He and his assistant, Colonel Lord, squabbled after a while, and in June, 1889, General Field arrived in Santiago. He had been sent down there by the North and South American Construction Company. After much labor, General Field says, he learned that Lewis and Lord had spent $100,000 in gold sent down from New York, and $122,000 in gold borrowed from Chilian banks, besides having overdrawn $14,486 61 at the bank and having $15,000 to meet and nothing to meet it with. There was also, he swears, a floating indebtedness of over $100,000. Furthermore, the Chilian government officers, the Chilian newspapers and public sentiment generally made things yery uncomfortable for the American company. President Balmaceda had "soured" on the whole enterprise.

After long negotiatione General Field succeeded in selling out the railway contract to Julio Bernstein, a Chilian, who assumed all the debts and undertook to carry the enterprise through. The directors of the North and South American Construction Company did not lose time in selling out to Bernstein. As it is, they are $200,000 out of pocket in money advanced, and all they have to Show for it is a "claim" of $200,000,000.

for his trouble is his experience and a "claim" for $2,000,000.

THE SALE TO BERNSTEIN,

Comegys, Lewis and Wyman claimed that General Field and his associates wronged them in selling out to Bornstein. General Field replied, through his attorney, Charles H. Williams, that his money and his friends' money had started the enterprise, and that his party were the obligors on the $1,000,000 bond. In other words, they had assumed all the risk and therefore were justified in getting out of the business.

Mr. Comegys is the man whose story the Henald told last week. On motion in the Supreme Court to compel him to pay his wife $1,000 arrears of alimony, his answer was that he was too poor to obey the order of the Court. It was proved that he spent more than $100 a month on cabs, went often to the races and maintained a fine house in West Ninetenth street. He claimed that he was so sick that these things were not luxuries but necessaries.

DYING WHEN HE MADE IT.

DR. M. R. VEDDER'S TESTIMONY CONCLUDED IN

THE FAYERWEATHER WILL CONTEST. In the Fayerweather will contest yesterday Dr. M. R. Vedder continued his testimony. He said that the intellect and will were not specially impaired by consumption in the last stages. He conceded that a dying man in the last stages, while in intense pain, would frequently acquiesco in almost anything. He admitted that on November 15 he said to Mr. Vaughan that Mr. Fayerweather was a said to Mr. Vaughan that Mr. Fayerweather was a dying man and ought not to be called upon to execute any important or complicated paper.

The next question created discussion. It was:—Was it the fact that Mr. Fayerweather was not competent to execute the paper?

Ex.-Surrogate Rollins argued that inasmuch as Dr. Vedder had been sele cted as a subscribing witness to one of the codicils he was compatent to testify to all professional relations. The Surrogate thought that the fact that he was a witness to the codicil relieved him from the restrictions of the statute, and John E. Parsons, on behalf of Executor Vaughan, said that he considered the avidence was competent, and as his client was charged with wrongfully procuring the last occiel he wanted all the swidence put in.

This bar having been removed the Doctor said that Mr. Fayerweather was dying at the time.

the evidence put in.

This bar having been removed the Doctor said that Mr. Fayerweather was dying at the time.

"What effect did his failing condition have upon his mental condition as to the resistance of importunities?"

"It weakened him mentally and physically. His mental condition was not as accurate and he thought more slowly."

Dr. Vedder further testified that while Mr. Fayerweather was not easily influenced by others, yet he trusted implicitly those in whom he had confidence. As to the codicil executed on Movember 11, four days prior to his death and then destroyed, the Doctor said that Mr. Fayerweather had executed it with considerable mental and physical difficulty and that he was "just about competent to execute it." He did not think Mr. Fayerweather was competent to execute any important paper on November 15.

"Is it not true that people in that condition will acquiesce in almost anything?"

"That has been my experience."

"Did you use the word 'crueity' in your conversation with Mr. Vaughan?"

"It said I thought it was cruel to ask a man in his condition to sign a paper."

Dr. Vedder said that for two years Mr. Fayerweather's eyesight had been failing. Toward the last he could not reason. Joseph Joyce, on the day Mr. Fayerweather was insane, but his anawer was that his patient was sane. When he was told that the dying man had to sign a very important paper that day it was then that he made the remark that it would be cruei to ask him to sign it. It was his opinion that ill health in any degree had an ill effect upon the mind. From conversations which he had had with Mr. Fayerweather's relatives. He said that several years ago Mr. Fayerweather felt grateful toward Executor Vaughan, but that he did not like Mrs. Fayerweather's relatives. He said that several years ago Mr. Fayerweather the Doctor got the impression that Mr. Fayerweather had a bad attack of illness, which, in his opinion, affected his mental faculties, although not permanently.

Dr. H. Wilcox, who also witnessed the execution of the c

OPPOSING THE HUCKLEBERRY ROAD.

There was a brief argument yesterday before Judge Ingraham, in Supreme Court, Chambers, upon the application of John W. and Paul G. Duke for an injunction restraining the use of their consent and that of others by the Harlem Bridge, Mor-sent and that of others by the Harlem Bridge, Morrisania and Fordham Railroad Company before the State Railroad Commissioners, on an application to change the motive power of the road from horse power to the troiley electric system.

It was stated by Judge Ingraham that the plaintiffs could not ask an injunction on any concents other than their own. The plaintiffs claim that the consents to the proposed change of motive power was procured through the fraudulent representation that the change was to be to cable power.

The company claimed there had been no misrepresentation.

Decision was reserved.

BUSINESS EMBARRASSMENTS.

The Chaskel Chemical Works have been incorporated to carry on the business formerly conducted by James Chaskel, who falled about three weeks ago. The new corporation is constituted, it is said, principally of un secured creditors of Mr. Chaskel, the trustees being Milon S. Ginterman, Gustave B. Calman and W. Rae Grane. The dispute arose over messages sent during war times from Council Bluffs to Ogden and from Hansas City to Boaz. The government granted privileges to the Union Pacific for the construction of railway and telegraph lines west of the Mississippi in 1802, and in return was to be allowed cartain privileges regarding messages transmitted. Compensation for the sorvice was to apply to the payment of bonds until the services rendered the government covered the bonds and interest.

In a contract made with the telegraph company in 1866 the agreement for rates was that the cost hould be fixed by the Postmaster General. No

REAL ESTATE MEN AT WORK.

THERE WERE FEW SALES YESTERDAY, BUT LEG-ISLATION WAS CONSIDERED. The work done in the real estate market yesterday was not of a forceful nature.

In the early morning hours up town some good sales were perfected at private contract, as, for instance, the following:-No. 314 West Eighteenth street, a three story dwelling on lot 20x55x100, was sold to M. B. Smith. of Brooklyn. It is stated that there is a mortgage of $18,000 on this property. Lionel Froelich reports having sold at private contract No. 808 Lexington avenue, a three story dwelling on lot 20x50x80, to Asher Weinstein, for $18,250. On the public market yesterday Auctioneers L. J. Phillips & Co. sold five vacant lots, 25x100.11 each, on the north side of East Ninety-sixth street, east of Lexington avenue, at $9,000 each to Samuel

Under decree of foreclosure Auctioneers R. V. Harnett & Co. sold a plot of land on 160th street, east of Morris avenue, 35x120, for $5,500 to the plaintiff in the action. Late in the afternoon the Legislative Committee of the Exchange met in the Board room, but there Atte in the afternoon the Legislative Committee of the Exchangs met in the Board room, but there was only a meagre attendance. Very little work of general interest was transacted except the disposition of two reports by Thomas C. Smith, chairman of the Committee on Fending Legislation.

His committee reported adversely—and the General Committee sustained the report—in regard to Senate bill No. 38, introduced by Mr. Roesch, and known as "An act to amend chapter 475 of the laws of 1890, entitled 'An act to provide for short forms of deeds and mortgages."

The various sections of this new bill were read, giving the mortgages of any parcel of property special rights and powers. The various sections as read were considered excessively oppressive to the mortgager, one section giving the latter only eight days' notice before his entire holdings could be grabbed by the capitalist or the mortgages. The committee reported adversely on this bill and the report was unanimously and with applause accepted by the Legislative Committee.

The same committee reported favorably the bill now pending giving the Sinking Fund Commissioners the exclusive right to grant franchises to corporations in the atreets and public places of New York and depriving the Aldermen of the rights they now possess.

One of the members asked Chairman Smith why he favored such a vast trust to Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. His reply was:—"Because I have more faith and rest more confidence in these officials than in the Board of Aldermen."

The report favoring the Sinking Fund Commissioners was unanimously adopted.

pany in rushing up a new set of seventy-foot poles on Sunday to replace those which had been broken down by the recent storm.

The work went merrily on yesterday, the object seemingly being to get all the new poles in position before any of the residents could emulate the example of Mr. David S. Brown and Mrs. Mary K. Sprague in restraining the company from putting up poles before their residences.

As many, if not most, of the buildings along Amsterdam avenue are flat houses it is not expected that the company will have to fight many more injunctions.

West End avenue residents have circulated a petition asking that the company be prevented from restoring the demolished poles on that avenue. They claim that the recent storm demonstrated that the poles are dangerous to life and property.
